Our sponsors

Dr. Edmund Stoiber

Prime Minister of Bavaria, Patron of Interota 2005

I give a warm welcome to all the participants of Interota 2005 World Conference at Bavaria. You will not only get known to our approved and hearty hospitality but may be inspired by the unique culture of our country and the special atmosphere of the Bavarian capital and its surrounding area as well. We in Bavaria are looking forward to the visit of young people from all cardinal points, who are standing up for the well-being of those who are weak and needy with much idealism and big engagement. They show initiative and sense of responsibility and give an example that I feel is a persuasive precedent.

The voluntary service to a society and the care for people in need as they are part of the Rotaract overall concept are important elements of a world order that enables all peoples to gain peace, equity, and the overcoming of diseases and distress. To achieve this aim it is still a long and hard way which cannot be managed by policy alone. Thus we are in need of ideas as they are implemented by the Interota World Social Act, today and in the future.

I am confident that the conference, which is bringing together many like-minded people in a cheerful ambience, is outstandingly the right place to form new friendships, strengthen the international cooperation and initiate hopeful projects. I wish the event an all around felicitous and lasting procreative course.

Greetings

Christian Ude

Lord Mayor of Munich

Rotary is celebrating a true centennial summer at Munich this year: First, at the German Horticultural Show "BUGA 2005" the Rotary Centennial Flower was launched to mark the 100th anniversary of Rotary International. Following is the "Rotaractive House" as the World Social Act of Rotaract.

In Munich and Bad Aibling the World Conference of Rotaract Interota 2005 is taking place. Following the Rotary International World Convention in 1987 and the Rotaract National Conference in 1999 Munich is once again the meeting point for the big Rotarian community. And I am sure: As a city of cosmopolitanism, of cultural plurality and unifying the peoples, and as a traditional Rotarian city as well, where in 1928 one of the first German Rotary Clubs was founded and where in the meantime more than a dozen clubs of this international humanitarian network are active, Munich is providing a perfect framework for Interota 2005.

I am happy to welcome all the participants of Interota 2005 to Munich and am wishing the event complete success.

Felix Schwaller
Mayor of Bad Aibling

More than 170.000 young people between 18 and 32 years of age in 155 countries of the world, 3.000 of them in Germany alone, have joined forces as young Rotarians in Rotaract. The aim of Rotaractors is to build a community service that is working for the international understanding between peoples and for peace, that is developing sense of responsibility and that is processing the ethical principles of the youth.

In Bad Aibling the World Social Act "Rotaractive House" will be started. As the Interota Organisation Team says: "Children are our future when they are having a future themselves".

That is exactly what is not self-evident. Child labour, children's prostitution, child molestation and sweating are normality in many countries. Therefore Interota 2005 created a unique project: The Rotaractive House. As mayor I am thanking the Interota Organisation Team for bringing Interota 2005 and the World Social Act to Bad Aibling.

The young people are discussing the topics international understanding, education, health and environment in their workshops. Hopefully many of the young people are dealing with a life in unison with their next and nature. I wish the young Rotarians a nice sojourn at Bad Aibling and would be happy to see those young people again, who are dedicated to the common welfare.

I am looking forward to a successful World Social Act, jointed to the hope that the people in our world may be living more peaceful and more tolerant.

Greetings

Carl-Wilhelm Stenhammer

Rotary International President

Dear Rotaractors,

It is with pleasure that I extend to you my warm greetings as you gather for Interota 2005, and as we embark upon the second century of Rotary. Although this may be a milestone, it is also a stepping stone. Rotary's future depends on the continued dedication of the exceptional young men and women who participate in Rotaract.

Looking to the future, we can reflect on past accomplishments. But now is not the time to simply congratulate yourselves for a job well done. More opportunities exist for you to make a difference. Embrace these opportunities now to create a new standard of excellence in service.

To work for a better world for all people is like putting together a giant puzzle. Every participant will have to help in placing the pieces. Through Service Above Self, Rotary International must work to make its pieces as large as possible, and in doing so we continue to show the world the great leadership of our organization.

Greetings

Charles W. Grant

Chairman of the Rotary International Rotaract committee

As chairman of the Rotary International Rotaract Committee, I want to welcome each of you to Interota 2005 and to Munich and Bad Aibling, Germany. As you can see, this week is packed full of interesting workshops as well as many social events. The conference motto, "Be Rotaractive - Create Future" is an excellent theme. Rotaractors are our best and brightest students and young professionals! Rotaractors are the future leaders of Rotary and the world.

During this first year of the new century of Rotary, I challenge each of you to learn as much as you can about Rotary and Rotaract. I challenge each of you to go back to your country of origin, to your communities, and to your clubs to promote Rotaract and Rotary. Tell everyone you know (and don't know) about the wonderful things Rotarians and Rotaractors are doing for all people around the world. Tell them examples of projects your club has done and what future plans you have for community or international projects. In other words, communicate, communicate, communicate.

Let this year be the year that Rotaract fully integrates with Rotary. If Rotarians don't see you and the things that you are doing, or want to do, they will not be as receptive to you. Get to know the officers and directors of your local Rotary club. Ask if you can occasionally attend their weekly meetings. Help your sponsoring Rotary club with their fundraisers and projects. Communicate with your District Governor. Be proactive.

Finally, I want to challenge every Rotaractor in the world to bring in at least one quality member into your club. I want to challenge every district to start at least one new club this year. If you do these things, you will create a bright future for Rotaract and Rotary.

I personally want to give a "Texas Size" thank you to the Interota Organizing Team and all those who have worked to make this a meaningful and worthwhile conference.

Greetings

Christian Gieselmann

Interota 2005 Chairman

Three years are bygone since the last Interota in Brasil. Three years in which the preparations for Interota 2005 in Germany were brought up to speed. Three years that held work, success and fun as well as failure and frustration. Three years that eventually headed to Interota 2005. In Germany Rotaract has a motto besides the Rotarian Four-Way Test: "Learn - Help - Celebrate".

Let's use the workshops of Interota 2005 to develop a joint world motto that may be a cornerstone for a world community of Rotaract. Get known to each other at the Campfire, the Festival of Nations and the Gala Ball. Experience our culture at the day trips and the Munich City Tour as well as on Oktoberfest.

We wish all of you a felicitous and interesting week, may everyone take his part of a world community back home in his heart.

Klaus Petritsch

Rotary Governor District 1840

It is a great pleasure for me to welcome you to Interota 2005. I feel it as an award that in the 100th year of Rotary the World Conference of Rotaract is taking place in our district. I want to thank all those who made it possible that Interota 2005 came to Bavaria and all those who contributed to the success of this big event.

The organisers focused the workshops on literacy, water and international understanding, thus picking up the main targets of Rotary. I am specially happy about this fact, as Rotary will be most successful if the young generation stands behind our endeavours. The Rotaractive House is a focus on that.

Besides the work, celebrating shall not miss out. Together we are acclaiming the broadening of the basis to get known better to each other, thus understanding one another. I wish a harmonic and successful course of Interota 2005. May it be a valuable part of the international understanding and be a haunting experience for all participants.
